Pet insurance 101

Let's say your pet also makes the puzzling choice to eat a random item. Here's how a Nationwide pet insurance plan could help:

1. Your vet (or any licensed veterinarian) treats your pet's foreign object ingestion
2. You pay the invoice of $2,816¹
3. You submit a photo of your paid invoice
4. Nationwide reimburses your eligible expenses

You could receive up to 80% reimbursement for your eligible veterinary expenses,² along with the comfort of knowing that your pet received the care they needed.

Pup-pare for the fall

- ✓ Keep back-to-school supplies out of paw's reach; ingestion can lead to stomach upset and intestinal blockages.
- ✓ Monitor your pet when they are chewing on or playing with toys.
- ✓ Train your pet to release inappropriate objects with a verbal cue such as “leave it” or “drop it” to prevent ingestion.
- ✓ Nationwide pet insurance members have 24/7 access to veterinary professionals via VetHelpline®.³
